VEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST'S.

rint elsewhere a paragraph the Ritchie Press, in the course of which occurs the remark that it is "a matter of the greatest moment," that we elect this fall none but thoroughly loyal men to the Legislature. This is true passing thought. The times are still passing thought. The times are still momentous, not only as regards national affairs, but in respect to concerns of local and State importance. The next Legislature will have duties to perform the performance of the control and worthy of something more than as grave and responsible and as endur-ing in their consequences, as any that has preceded it. The proposed Amend-ment to the Constitution of the United States, devised by the joint committee of Congress, and adopted by both Houses, is before the legislatures of the States for ratification. How important and fundamental are the principles involved in that amendment, is well set forth by Governor Morton of Indiana, in the is amply illustrated not only by the rebellion, but by each days current events.

Whether it shall be ratified or not is a question of serious import to the country. If ratified, it places the practical restoration of the States on a basis of safety to the whole Union. If not, that restoration is postponed indefinitely and the irritating sores of the rebellion is postponed. speech we published yesterday morn-ing. How vital its adoption is to the future peace and welfare of the country,

No one who does not favor that ent can be regarded as co-op erating with the Union party, for it is the great distinctive measure of the present Congress. The ratification of this modify, and give the code final shape. If we consider that this code is to embrace and give direction to all our Statutes, ramifying through all classes and interests and institutions, we shall see that the Legislature that is to give it the fin-ishing touches, will have a delicate and difficult duty.

Omitting matters of less importance, we only add that upon the next Legislature will devolve the task of adjusting our share of the public debt of Old Vir ginls. We need scarcely remind our assed resolutions of instruction on first making propositions of reunion,

I fear, sir, that your action in removing good, true, and loyal citizens from office in which they have been duly and legally installed, without the justification of the high constitutional law of the land; denying the right of peaceable assemblage to loyal citizens, and granting unto the rebel population of the South and the North all they have ever claimed whilst in rebellion, will have a tendency to hurl sgain upon the country, the scenes of tumult and bloodshed from which we had supposed ourselves happily and forever emerged.

FEW WORDS OF COMMON SENSE. How few there are who are, not subject to gans, who, by neglecting premonitory symptoms, aggravate the complaint, until disease strikes its shafts, causing inexpressible forture of the patient, and anxiety and distress to friends. "Only a cold!" "A slight sore throat!" is the heedless remark of many when so affected. Yes, "Only a cold," was the thoughtless expression of thousands whom death has marked for his prey.
